

Let's Do Our Part TOGETHER!

"Most people don't understand Lawrence's passion for fatherhood because they aren't familiar with his pain in childhood growing up without a father."

— Chief Gary Lewis,
Bexley Police Department

LAUNCH DATE

Outside of marriage, I've never been more passionate about a subject. We see the damage up-close and in-person when "he's" out of focus. Individuals stress out, families suffer, societies self-destruct, organizations struggle, and legacies are short-circuited when paternal touch-points are visually impaired and vocally absent. Teen suicide is on the rise, violent assaults and criminal mischief are exploding, and drug addiction across age demographics has reached catastrophic levels. Yes, I shake my head everyday in disbelief as the statistics paint a grim reality. The carnage is visibly present in inner-city, Appalachian, and suburban communities alike. Gentlemen, this has occurred under our watch!

To be a father, especially when you're prepared for the responsibility, is good. But being a dad — when you've embraced the journey — is significantly better. And what's best is a team-based approach to help each one of us excel. Fathers. Dads. Surrogates, such as adoptive or foster-care parents. Coaches. Mentors. We need a venue for paternal development, personal improvement, and professional empowerment, a resource that will change lives and transform legacies. (Down the road, we will offer tools and templates to help young ladies and women who've been wounded by their fathers break free from paternal abuse, abandonment, or alienation.)

5 Momentum Dads "LP" Players

Leadership Philosophy

CHECK YOUR COMPASS

Under his guidance and direction, a great point guard assists teammates by helping them maximize their talents, skills, and abilities — on and off the court. In this module, paternal figures will define and refine their core influence attributes (CIAs) to engage, equip, and empower others. Leadership privileges, principles, and practices will also be examined.

Life's Purpose

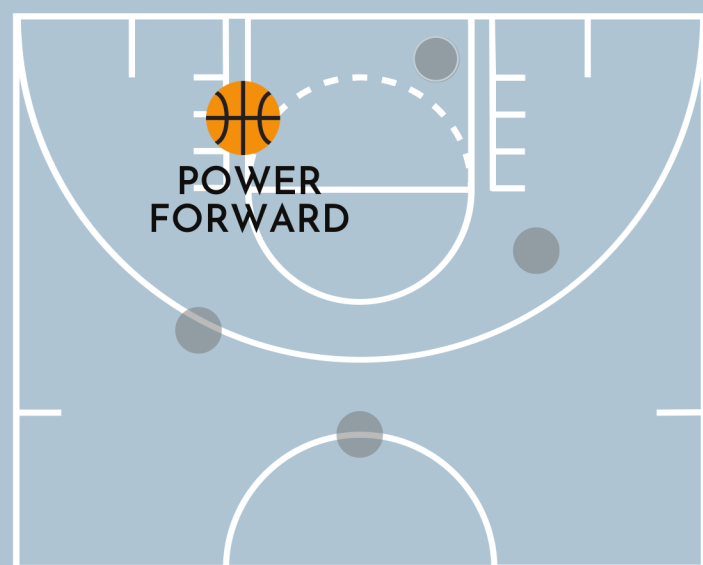

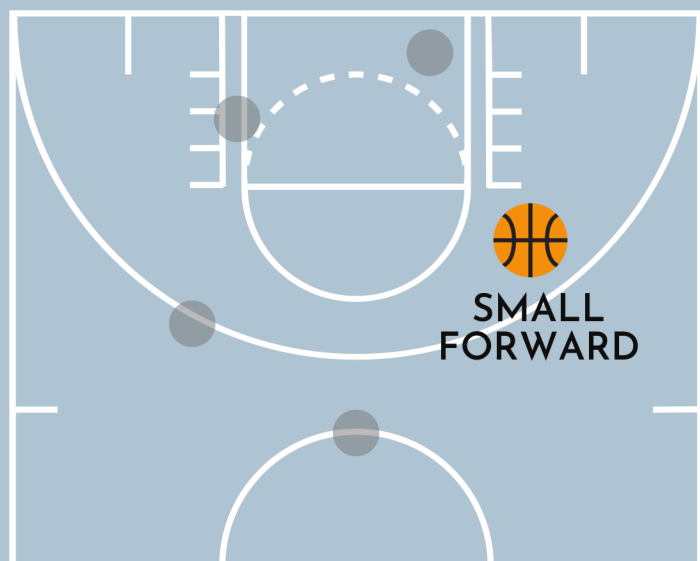

CHECK YOUR AIM

No basket (from any distance) can be made without vision, and no life assignment (from any vantage point) can be achieved without mission. In this module, the MVP's of a Purpose-Led Existence are highlighted to provide paternal figures with the foundational keys to fulfill this manDATE and courting process.

Longevity Paradigm

CHECK YOUR EPIGENETICS

Providing for others is commendable, but neglecting your health is detrimental. Lives and legacies are often cut short due to poor health outcomes. A holistic approach to wellbeing — nutritionally, emotionally, relationally, biochemically, and inspirationally — will be explored in this module. Without a wellness game plan in play, paternal blessings will fall short of their intended target!

Livelihood Playbook

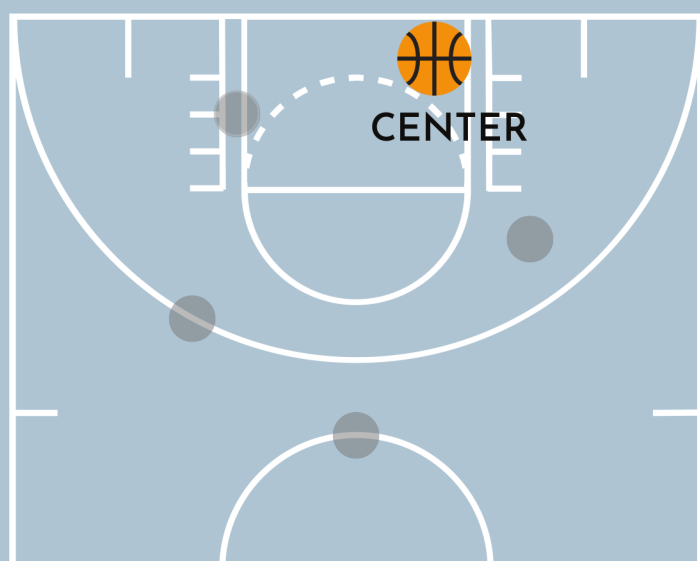

CHECK YOUR ASSETS

Good health can lead to great wealth when mindsets and skillsets are prioritized. But to monetize skillsets, you must first maximize mindsets. Most people have this wealth formula backwards. In this module, paternal figures will identify their unique Monetizing Asset Profile (MAP) to boost their personal attitude, financial aptitude, and professional altitude.

Legacy Postscript

CHECK YOUR HEART

A life of good deeds is trapped in a moment in time, but a legacy of goodwill stands the test of time. An ancient proverb states, "A good man leaves an inheritance to his children's children." When the horn sounds and the game of life is over, legacy can play on and pay dividends for generations to come. This module will serve as the landing pad and launching platform for paternal figures to set their heritage template in motion.
